Shawn Richards

Local hunter Shawn Richards, son of Alan Wilson and Kim Richards of Addison, Vermont shot a 145 pound deer on November 3, 2012. He shot his deer in Benson, Vermont. His family are very avid hunters. He has also shot deer the past two years. The spread from one antler to another was around 14 inches.

The VUHS play was a great production. VUHS put on the musical "White Christmas." We interviewed some of the characters and got answers the questions we had. We interviewed Megan and Ethan, they are both seventh graders at VUHS. The first question we asked Megan and Ethan was what was your characters name? Megan: I was Susan. Ethan: I was a camera man and a chorus kid. What was you favorite from the play? Megan: My number!!! I also liked Falling Out of Love. Ethan: I had two, Blue Skies and I Love Piano. How long have you been acting? Megan: Since third grade when we did "The Hobbit". Ethan: Since I was in sixth grade. VUHS has a great drama program and they put on wonderful plays and musicals each year.

How Vermonters are helping with Hurricane Sandy victims

Many Vermonters from many places in Vermont are helping Hurricane Sandy victims by donating items such as non-perishable items, food for pets, batteries, flashlights, etc. Vermonters are helping people in places that were hit the hardest by Hurricane Sandy, some of those places are New York and on the Coast of New Jersey. A Brattleboro Rotary Club is finding ways to help Hurricane Sandy victims by collecting donated items. Our school is Vergennes Union High School and Middle School. We also collected non-perishable foods and more.

A Vergennes ambulance and six other Vermont ambulances and many EMT's were sent to New Jersey on November 6, 2012
